“People Helping People”

Any of us could face a financial crisis due to unforeseen events like a death in the family or a job loss, but thankfully, the People Helping People program provides a onetime utility assistance during such hardships. You hold the power to help those in need by giving to this program simply by adding a dollar or more to your utility bill each month.

What is People Helping People?

This is a program administered by The City of Covington to help the elderly, handicapped and needy meet their energy costs by adding a dollar or more to your utility bills.

Who is eligible for the program?

NHN recipients come from all walks of life, yet due to genuine hardships such as debilitating illness or recent unemployment, their financial resources are thoroughly exhausted.

How does it work?

The City of Covington will act as a collection agency for People Helping People and forwards all money received to Delta Human Resources. People Helping People offers one-time assistance. It serves as a "stop gap" measure to those in need, not an on-going source of assistance.

How can I help?

Giving to People Helping People is one of the easiest things you will ever do. Simply fill out the enclosed form and indicate the amount of your monthly contribution. Your pledge will appear on your monthly utility bill under "NN" and will be included in the amount due. To make a one-time contribution, simply enter that amount and make your check or money order payable to People Helping People and mail to:

“People Helping People”

Please bill me the checked amount below each month on my utility bill. This money, in its entirety, with no administrative expenses, will go toward helping the elderly, handicapped and needy meet their energy costs. I understand that my contributions are deductible for Federal Income Tax purposes. I understand that the deductions can be stopped at any time.
