Two more blighted houses on Feezor and Lincoln Streets came down this week in Covington. We will continue to tear down more, thanks to our partners in Tipton County government! We are grateful to have received grant dollars to help us further improve our city! Let's all work hard to continue to clean up and further stabilize our neighborhoods!

Tipton County Head Start hosted an open house on Wednesday, August 14th. Visitors were given the opportunity to tour the facility and meet their wonderful staff. Thank you, Patricia Mason for extending the invitation to us! We love the work you are doing for our community!

Mayor Hanson had the opportunity to tour Charms this week along with Congressman David Kustoff, State Representative Debra Moody, and HTL Advantage Director Mark Herbison. Covington is blessed to have the Charms Factory!

We got the opportunity to meet with Marty Marbry, West TN Division Manager at the TN Department of Tourism, Anderson Okoniewski, Scheduler for Congressman David Kustoff's Office in Washington D.C., and Marianne Dunavant, District Director for Congressman David Kustoff. Everyone agreed that great things are happening in Covington and we can look forward to even better things to come in the future!

Celebrate - Tourism

Tipton County was 7 of just 7 counties from across the state that experienced a 7% increase or more in tourist spending during 2018. That's AMAZING GROWTH! According to tnvacation.com, tourism is Tennessee's #2 industry. The economic impact of tourism effects many aspects of our City, our County, and our State, not to mention every household in our community. Now, that is something to CELEBRATE!!

Celebrate - Education

According to the TNReady 2019 Testing data, Tipton County School District is one of only 20 districts across the state to earn an Exemplary Status, which is the highest status a district can earn!

Covington High School was announced as a Level 5 school, also the highest level! We are so proud of the GREAT job our teachers and administrative staff are doing!

Covington Parks and Rec welcomes Dee Rogers to our team! Dee will serve as the new Fitness Coordinator for the Sportsplex. Check out her new classes!

Shelton Park Covington Rotary Club

Written by Echo Day

In 2017, the Covington Rotary Club adopted Shelton Park through the city's Adopt-a-Park program. We did this under the leadership of then-president Joe Mack, who is also the city's parks and recreation director.

Through this partnership we are required to help maintain the park, so we meet monthly to pick up trash, pick up sticks and limbs, weed around the fountain (which is cornerstone of the park), clean out the gazebo, and remove eroded dirt from the sidewalks. This park is not level and washout due to rain is inevitable; the job was especially difficult this month because of all of the rain we've had this year, including flash flooding recently, and missed cleanups.

In addition to our monthly cleanups, we participate as a group in Clean Up/Fix Up Covington, which is an annual city-wide cleanup effort near Earth Day. Hundreds of people participated this April and we partnered with the fire department to clean our park and the roadways leading to Covington's two fire stations.

As with any group, the same core group generally shows up for cleanups and we include the younger family members as well. I was glad to see involvement of families in service projects listed as a goal for the distinctions available for the Rotary Citation. Several of us have children, grandchildren and nieces and nephews who participate and they are an integral part of our team and our success with this project.

When our cleanups are finished for the year, which will be in October, we are hoping to host a membership drive/mixer in the park to help show off the tangible work we're doing every month and talk about the other ways we're helping improve our local community.

Rotarians pose for a photo with Covington firefighters during the April 2019 Walk Across Covington cleanup effort, which takes place each year to commemorate Earth Day. Covington Rotarians teamed up with firefighters to clean up both their adopted park and the areas around the city's two fire stations.

The City of Covington installed signage to recognize Covington Rotary Club's adoption of Shelton Park.

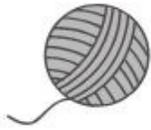

Shenika Clark, right, and Zoe Mizell, stepdaughter of Lauren Fletcher, work on shoveling dirt from a concrete pad in the park.

William Allen Wooten and charter member Bob Overall work on clearing a sidewalk on July 27.

ALEXA WITCHER NAMED ASSISTANT COMMISSIONER FOR LEGISLATIVE AFFAIRS

NASHVILLE, Tenn. – Alexa Witcher, JD has been appointed assistant commissioner for legislative affairs for the Tennessee Department of Health. In this role, Witcher will direct and oversee the department’s legislative efforts and initiatives. She will also coordinate with and assist legislators in public health-related issues and departmental legislative proposals.

“Alexa has extensive experience in public policy and in working with our legislators, and I am excited to have her join us to lead our legislative affairs team,” said Tennessee Health Commissioner Lisa Piercey, MD, MBA, FAAP.

As assistant commissioner for legislative affairs, Witcher will develop the department’s annual legislative package and work with key members of the Tennessee General Assembly to ensure passage of key departmental initiatives. She will coordinate all TDH reports mandated by the legislature and facilitate departmental advisory committee appointments.

“The Department of Health’s mission to protect, promote and improve the health and prosperity of people in Tennessee is important to me, and I am honored to continue my service to the state as a member of the dedicated and talented TDH team,” said Witcher.

Witcher comes to TDH after serving as a legislative liaison and assistant general counsel for the Tennessee Department of Environment and Conservation since 2016. Her prior roles with Tennessee State Government include serving as a legal intern at TDEC and as an elections intern with the Tennessee Secretary of State. ADELE LEWIS NAMED STATE CHIEF MEDICAL EXAMINER

NASHVILLE, Tenn. – Adele Lewis, MD has been appointed state chief medical examiner for Tennessee. Lewis previously served as deputy state chief medical examiner and had been acting chief ME since the retirement of Julia Goodin, MD.

“Adele has the training and experience necessary to assure we meet our solemn requirements and obligations to Tennesseans who have passed, as well as their families, friends and loved ones,” said Tennessee Health Commissioner Lisa Piercey, MD, MBA, FAAP. “She is a valuable resource to those involved in medicolegal investigative work while ensuring the dignity deserved by the deceased and their families.”

In her role as state chief medical examiner, Lewis leads a team responsible for the education and training of county medical examiners, keeping records of deaths investigated by county medical examiners and assuming investigative authority in cases of interest to the state, including mass fatality incidents and threats to public health. The office works to create and support consistently high-quality death investigation and forensic autopsy services statewide to protect public health and safety, participate in the criminal justice system and provide and interpret mortality data.

The Office of the State Chief Medical Examiner is staffed by two board-certified forensic pathologists, three medicolegal death investigators, an epidemiologist and an administrative assistant. Team members are available for consultation to the public, law enforcement, clinicians and friends and relatives of the deceased. A satellite office located in Johnson City is staffed by the OSCME deputy director and houses medical examiner records.

“I am honored to continue my work with our colleagues both inside and outside of the department to deliver the best and most uniform policies and practices in cases of unusual, unnatural or suspicious death to the people of Tennessee,” said Lewis. “Our unique model affords me the opportunity to work with a wide variety of stakeholders to integrate the needs of all of those touched by our system.”

Lewis joined TDH as deputy state chief medical examiner in 2016. Prior to coming to TDH, Lewis served as deputy chief medical examiner for Nashville/Davidson County from 2011 to 2016. She was president and chairman of the board for the Nashville Academy of Medicine in 2015 and 2016 and is the only person to serve two terms as president. She has served as a member of the Tennessee Medical Association House of Delegates since 2011 and as chairman of the TMA Public Health Committee since 2015. She was honored with the TMA Distinguished Service Award in 2017. She was a member of the Davidson County Child Death Review Board starting in 2007 and served as co-chair from 2010 to 2016.

Lewis holds a Bachelor’s degree in biochemistry from Bowdoin College in Maine and earned her Doctorate of Medicine from the University of Alabama School of Medicine. After residencies in general surgery, trauma and surgical critical care and anatomic pathology at Vanderbilt University Medical Center, she completed a fellowship in forensic pathology at the Office of the Medical Examiner in Nashville. She is board-certified in both anatomic and forensic pathology and is a fellow of both the College of American Pathologists and National Association of Medical Examiners.

Lewis has written articles published in a number of professional journals for the forensic science community and has lectured on forensic matters at numerous conferences and symposiums. She is a lecturer at the Forensic Institute for Research and Education at Middle Tennessee State University and serves as a member of the TDH Maternal Mortality Review Team and State Child Fatality Review Team. Her community service includes membership on the Metropolitan Nashville/Davidson County Community Oversight Board. She has also served as an expert witness testifying in more than 100 civil and criminal trials in multiple states and in federal court.
